Details on your candidature

Dear Executive Committee,

Dear Council Members of the European Society of Intensive Care Medicine,

It is with great honor that I apply for the position of ESICM NEXT Chair Elect. Since joining ESICM in 2015 during my intensive care training, I have been actively engaged in NEXT activities, contributing to its growth and consolidation within the Society. From 2021, I have served two mandates as Member of the NEXT Committee, further strengthening my involvement and commitment.

During these mandates, I have contributed to several initiatives of the Society, ranging from the Environmental Sustainability Green Paper and Educational Podcasts to, most recently, the Parenting and Pregnancy survey. I have also represented NEXT within the Digital Content and Social Media Committee as well as the Research Committee.

NEXT members represent a significant part of ESICM's community and embody its future leadership, innovation, and diversity. Having witnessed the outstanding work of previous Chairs, I am motivated to continue this tradition by further strengthening the visibility and integration of young intensivists and trainees within ESICM activities.

As Chair Elect, I will work to guarantee effective coordination of the Committee, represent NEXT within the Council, Executive Committee, Congress Committee, EBICM, and the Diversity & Inclusiveness Monitoring Group, and to actively promote the collaboration of the members in the different Committees.

Given my background as a researcher and educator, I am particularly committed to supporting activities in education, research, professional development, and the well-being of young intensivists and trainees. My goal is to create a supportive environment where NEXT members can both contribute to ESICM initiatives and benefit from them, reinforcing NEXT as a catalyst for innovation and leadership within the Society.

In addition to my work within NEXT, I bring extensive experience as a university teacher and mentor, along with an active research and publication record in intensive care and perioperative medicine (Scopus ID: 57200518480). I am confident that these experiences will allow me to represent the NEXT community with dedication and responsibility while advancing ESICM's mission.

Sincerely,
Gaetano Scaramuzzo
